CEO's Message

Happy New Year!

We have been truly blessed at Kit Carson Electric Cooperative, Inc. (KCEC) to have members who are passionate about the projects that will give us a stronger community. Naturally not everyone agrees with everything we do. What a boring community that would be and Taos is anything but boring. In January we will highlight some of the accomplishments of 2012 in both our newsletter and our Watts Happening e-mail feature. Look for summaries of our Enchanted Light Fiber Optic Project; our successful petition to the New Mexico Public Regulation Commission to suspend the rate hike and redesign proposed by our electricity supplier, Tri-State Generation and Transmission; the reduction of the number and length of outages experienced by our members; plus our launching of the new shop local KCEC Co-op Connections Card, a new website at www.kitcarson.com and enhanced communication with our members in e-mail updates such as this.

We say Thank You to those who have supported us this past year and to those who didn't, because what makes our town special is our healthy dialog about the issues that affect us all. From our KCEC family to yours, we wish you health, happiness, safety and prosperity in 2013!

PRC Suspends Tri-State Electric Rate Increase and Rate Redesign

Kit Carson Electric Cooperative, Inc. (KCEC), along with two other New Mexico electric cooperatives, protested a proposed rate increase and rate redesign by Tri-State Generation and Transmission. The New Mexico Public Regulation Commission (PRC) ruled in favor of KCEC at a hearing on December 20, 2012. The changes were due to take place on January 1, 2013. KCEC has fought rate increases by Tri-State for 12 years, but this is the first time other cooperatives have joined in the battle. New Mexico state law requires three cooperatives to protest a rate increase before the PRC can hear the case.

We want to thank those members who took time out of their day to call and e-mail the PRC in support of KCEC's fight for electric rate stability. Please call the commissioners to thank them for siding with electric consumers in these tough economic times.

The suspension of the increase, the ninth increase by Tri-State since 2000, means KCEC and other New Mexico electric cooperative consumers will not be subject to a 5% increase in rates. According to KCEC CEO Luis Reyes, “The suspension of the rate increase amounts to an annual savings of one million dollars. The rate redesign would have unfairly burdened the business community during already difficult economic times. We are very pleased the commissioners chose to intervene on behalf of our members.”

The PRC will assign a hearing examiner and set a hearing schedule. Tri-State has indicated they will seek to stop the suspension through court action.

KCEC Board Appoints David Torres to Fill Trustee Vacancy

The Board of Trustees of Kit Carson Electric Cooperative, Inc. (KCEC) appointed David A. Torres to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Trustee Francis Cordova. The appointment was made at the board of trustees meeting held on December 27, 2012. He will begin his trustee duties on January 2, 2013 and serve the remainder of Mr. Cordova's term, which was due to expire at the KCEC Annual Meeting in June 2013.

Mr. Torres brings knowledge of cooperative operations having served on the board of Kit Carson Energy, Inc. since 2009. He is currently an International Relief Consultant with Samaritan's Purse, leading assessment and relief teams to natural and man-made disasters in numerous counties. He retired as a Colonel from the United States Air Force in 2006, having served as Senior U.S. Military Advisor to NATO Commander Headquarters in Sarajevo. He has also previously worked for the State of New Mexico as Transportation Programs Division Director for the Department of Transportation and as Taos County Public Works Director. He is married with two children.

Sincerely,
Luis Reyes, CEO

KCEC Volunteers Assist in Distribution of Over 1,200 Food Boxes

Current Taos Feeds Taos president Francis Cordova, a recently retired KCEC Trustee, reported Taos Feeds Taos donated more than 1,200 boxes of food to local residents this year. For 27 years this project has thrived due to the generous volunteers from our community. This year donations of $59,200 were collected for the food purchases. KCEC has actively supported this effort for seven years. That support comes in many forms, including donations from KCEC personnel, assistance with food collection from many of our schools, plus sorting and distributing food. The KCEC Board of Trustees, management and staff are proud to support this worthwhile Taos holiday tradition. According to KCEC CEO Luis Reyes, “The members of the communities served by KCEC have many needs. At the same time, they have a willingness to help their neighbors. The roots run deep here. What has kept those roots growing is demonstrated each year during Taos Feeds Taos. Our Kit Carson Coop family is in a unique position to assist this effort. It is our privilege to be of service to such a worthwhile cause.”
